Our abstract (panel) is concluded as follows:

-the topic of the panel: How different professionals approach to wicked problems?

-a short description of its objectives:

The panel will provide a tentative and open discussion/debate about the results of study based on the Methodological Summer School 2012 in Kouvola. The panel may provide further information and different views to develop this framework of the wicked problem and thus, similar study will be replicated in forthcoming Methodological Summer Schools such as Fall 2013 in Manchester. Therefore, the objective of this panel is to study how the basic features of wicked problems are dealt with by the different professionals.
